CHARLESTON, MONDAY MORNING, MAY 13, 1872.

THE BRIGHTENING SKIES.

THE WHOLE NATION SHOUTING FOR HONEST HORACE.

The Feeling at the Recent Session of the Democratic National Committee-The Masses of the Democracy for Greeley and Brown.

A New York letter of the 9th instant to the Baltimore Sun says:

The assembling of the Democratic Conserva-tive National Committee in this city yesterday brought with it quite a number of the leading representative men from all parts of the counrepresentative men from all parts of the country, and consequently, ereated a most decided interest in the Presidential question among all classes—citizens and visitors. Of course, every shade of opinion was expressed at the hotels and other places of public resort, and it was conceded by all that the future of the country, for weal or woe, would depend almost exclusively upon the action of the Demicratic Conservative Convention, now eter:nined to be held in your city on July 9

Whilst many of the extreme Democrats still entertain a hope that an opportunity may be presented for the nomination and election of a straight-out Democratic national ticket, yet even they admit that an extraordinary develoment of sentiment in the ranks of the Democracy itself has taken place, and is still rapidly growing, in favor of the platform and candidates of the Cincinnati Liberal Bepublican Convention. The interchange of opinion of a majority of Democrats now here from other sections of the country indicates very clearly that the mass of the people composing the Democratic Conservative party accept the platform and candidates of the Cincinnati Convention as the only true and proper solu Convention as the only true and proper solu-tion of our national political troubles; and so decided and outspoken is this feeling, more especially in the Southern and Southwestern States, that, added to the large liberal Repub-can vote already existing in those States, it is apparent that the running of a Radical, a lib-eral Republican, and a bird and straight-out De nocratic ticket would result in the success of the Radical administration party in nearly all, if not all of those States.

GOSSIP FROM WASHINGTON.

What is Thought of the Presidential Campaign-Demands of the South-Electoral Finesse, &c.

A Washington letter of Thursday to the Baltimore Sun savs:

The particular phase through which the Presidential contest is passing at this time challenges the ablest forecast. The most sagacious politicians here confess themselves unable, from the data furnished by movements hitherto made, to sketch in advance, even approximately, the course the canvass will take.

It is considered evident that the Cincinnati nomination, like that of the recent Labor Renomination, like that of the recent Labor Reierm Convention, is but tentative, and that its importance in the coming contest depends on movements yet to be made. To say that the Cincin and nominees depend for their chances of success upon the adoption of the Democratic Convention at Baltimore, in July, is only to zero the talk of the street, but thoughtful men here aseak of other probable elements in the caption which may give it a direction entirely diff rent from that which is now generally anticipated. While the free trade interest at Cincinnati gracefully allewed the question of revenue reform to be remitted to the constituencies of congressmen, that dethe constituencies of congressmen, that de-cision has met the active disapproval of men cision has met the active disapprovat in the powerful in their influence with the Democratic party, who are unwilling to see this issue driven from a national contest.

Southern Democrats here say the South will go to Baltimore and demand the adoption of the Cincinnati nomination by the Democratic Convention. "We furnish the votes," say

The Cincinuati nomination by the Democratic Convention. "We furnish the votes," say they, "and we insist that no portion of the Northern Democracy, who are unable to help us, shall come in and prevent us from taking the mand that is extended to us by the liberal men among our former adversaries."

If the Balitmore Convention is found to be so widely divergent as to threaten a separation of the constituents of the convention, or they body should determine to nominate if that body should determine to nominate other candidates than those selected at Cinbe made to secure in each State, under the separate nominations, a joint electoral ticket. pledged to cast the vote of the State for either Mr. Greeley or the Ba majority of the tickets shall show, except to the event of the vote of that State being need-ed to prevent the re-election of General Grant, and in that case, casting the vote of the State in the electoral college for the candidate that will defeat him.

will defeat him.
This course is not new in American politics.
In 1836 the Whig tickets in many of the Southern States were headed "For President, Hugh Lawson White, of Tennessee; and William H. Harrison, of Ohlo," the electors therein being pleaded to wate for either as would hast do Harrison, of onlo, the electors the test of the pledged to vote for either, as would best dedeat Mr. Van Buren. Whether the contingencysagainst which this scheme seeks to provide will ever occur, or whether the plan will be adopted it the contingency should occur, restate the seems. mains to be seen.

THE GRANT PARTY ALARMED.

Congressional Republicans Discussing a Plan to Unite the Party-Grant to be Withdrawn and Wilson and Blaine to be Nominated.

[Correspondence of the New York Sun.] NEW YORK, May 9.

The unanimity with which the Democratic press of the country has received the nomination of Greeley has thrown the administration partyinto spasms of terror. There'ls no longer a disposition to sneer at or ridicule the Cincionati nomination as a broad farce. Several informal meetings of the White House senators and representatives have been held, and more than one prominent leader, who was a dew weeks since an out-and-out Grant man, has shown signs of weakness. This is due in a great degree to the fear of the endorsement of the Cincinnati ticket by the National Demo-cratic Convention. But there are some ambi-cratic Convention. But there are some ambitious men in the party who are doing all they can to strengthen the doubts of the doubting.

Ever since the reform movement assumed formidable proportions Speaker Blaine has been very active, and has held numerous long and earnest consultations in the speaker's room with certain Republican senators and representatives. I know that within the last two days the men who are acting with Blaine have expressed a decided determination to make an effort to heal the dissensions in the Republican party. They say that the reform movement is not to be despised, that it is no joke to laugh at, and that inless something is done the Cincinnati ticket will be ratified at Baitimore and elected in November. This, they contend, will utterly destroy the Repub-

Baltimore and elected in November. This, they contend, will utterly destroy the Bepublican party and open the door for the Democrats to walk in and assume control of the government for another half century.

In order to prevent any such calamity, Grant must be put out of the way. That he may have an opportunity to appear magnanimous, they are willing that he shall be nominated at Philadelphia, but with the express understanding beforehand that he will write a letter of declination instead of acceptance. In letter of declination instead of acceptance. In this letter he will declare his willingness to this letter he will declare his willingness to make any sacrifice, even to surrendering an opportunity of being vindicated by the people, in order to restore harmony in the Republican ranks, to preserve the integrity of the party, and thus render secure the priceless fruits of tree war. He will therefore propose that Greeley be as magnanimous and withdraw also, and join with him in recommending that still a third Republican Convention be held, at which all the people will have an opportunity to express their preferences for a candidate.

The Blaine party wanted this to be done before the convention met, but Grast and his thick-and-thin friends would not listen to such a proposition. They were not willing to ena proposition. They were not willing to ena proposition. They were not willing to entertain any proposition until they were plainly teld that it was exceedingly doubtful whether an ununited party could carry such a load.

Of course the Administration organ here will deny these facts, and will continue to contend that none of Grant's friends have any such intentions, but I know that this matter was discussed by the chairman of the Republican executive committee and a gentleman in the grant was discussed by the chairman of the Republican executive committee and a gentleman in the grant was discussed by the chairman of the Republican executive committee and a gentleman in the grant was discussed by the chairman of the Republican executive committee and a gentleman in the grant was discussed by the chairman of the Republican executive committee and a gentleman in the grant was discussed by the chairman of the Republican executive committee and a gentleman in the grant was discussed by the chairman of the Republican executive committee and a gentleman in the grant was discussed by the chairman of the Republican executive committee and a gentleman in the grant was discussed by the chairman of the Republican executive committee and a gentleman in the grant was discussed by the chairman of the Republicant was discussed by the chairman of t

OUR REPORTS FROM COLUMBIA.

Finances-Blue Ridge-Parker on the Wing-The Fairfield Ku-Klux, &c.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE NEWS.]

COLUMBIA, May 12. The financial condition does not seem to change any for the better. The licenses have been paid very promptly. No one seems to know where the money has gone.

It is reported that there is a movement on foot to investigate the affairs of the Blue Ridge Rallroad before the courts, and that it will ultimately put the road into the hands of a receiver.

Treasurer Parker went to New York to-day. The present cases against the arrested partles in Fairfield County are considered to be got up on the most frivolous charges of any SALUDA.

WHAT CONGRESS IS DOING.

WASHINGTON, May 11. In the Senate a bill to amend the enforce ment act occupied the entire day. The pres-ent position of the bill will give two inspectors of election at every voting precinct, who must be recommended by at least ten voters. In the House the tariff occupied the day. Many amendments were proposed and all re-consulting with senators. The consultation continues to-night at the White House. Nothing has transpired, but it is thought it means amnesty.

Senator Davis has leave of absence for the balance of the session of Congress.

The Consequential Blunder-Reported Failure of the Washington Treaty-Pardon of the Havana Students, &c.

WASHINGTON, May 10. Official and unofficial advices, received here to-day from London, show quite conclusively that all negotiations between the United States and Great Britain over the consequential claims before the Geneva arbitration have ended, and the whole matter rests before the board, as originally presented. The Gladended, and the whole matter resuspence the board, as originally presented. The Glad-stone ministry refuse to adjudicate the ques-tion as an independent one, unless it is abso-lutely withdrawn from the American case, and will not consent to go to an arbitration there even after the disclaimer made by this there even after the discialmer made by this administration that it expected no money damages, but desired only the principle of inferential indemnity settled.

Great Britain, it is now expected, will withdraw from the Geneva Conference, and thus the treaty of Washington will fail. Official notice of the withdrawal will probably be duly received by this government and submitted to received by this government and submitted to the Geneva board when it reassembles on the

The Spanish legation has received advices from Madrid that King Amadeus has signed the pardon of the thirty-two students condemned at Havana, some months since, to undergo imprisonment for alleged participation in the desecration of Castanon's grave. It will be remembered that eight students were summarily shot for the offence, which proved at most a mere school boy prank, the indiscretion and bad taste of which would have been sufficiently atoned for by their own regrets sufficiently atoned for by their own regrets sufficiently at oned for by their own regrets after the foolishness was past. The students committed to prison, and who are now pardoned, it is claimed, had nothing to do with the matter, but were involved in its consecutive the matter. quences by the madness of the so-called "vol-unteers."

Public opinion in England is averse to any action which will close the negotiations for a settlement."

THE COTTON CLAIMS.

WASHINGTON, May 11. The decision of the Supreme Court in the Elgie cotton cases, represented by John A. Grow and Mr. Corwin, stands now a finality as to cases in which pardon had been granted or amnesty taken. The only question is, will the substitute for the Morrill amendment, reported by the House judiciary committee, and adopted by the House by a very large majority, be agreed to by the conference commit-tee. The effect of the Morrill amendtee. The effect of the Morrill amendment is to lock in the treasury the amounts for which judgments have been entered in the courts under the Supreme Court decision. The effect of the substitute from the House will be to pay these judgments and to recollre the secretary of the treasury, and to require the secretary of the treasury, under rules, to adjudicate the claims for cot ton selzed after June 1st, 1865. In case no action is taken by the conference committee, both the Morrill amendment and the House both the Morrill amendment and the House substitute fall, and the Supreme Court decision fixes the status of claimants as to all cotton selzed before June 1st, 1865. All other cases stand as before. The fund to pay these claims is in the treasury and held in trust for the claimants. It amounts to near twenty-sive millions, of which ten millions is barred by the statute of limitation. Judge Lochrane, of Georgia; Colonel Capers, of Savannah, and other attorneys are here actively working for their clients. There is a crisis in these affairs which is attracting attention from all sections of the country. The committee of conference had two hours' session to-day. The Senate committee withdrew the Morrill amendment, but the House committee persisted in its subbut the House committee persisted in its sub-stitute. The probabilities are that the whole matter will be dropped, and the decision of the Supreme Court will govern.

The trustees of the Southern Baptist Theological Seminary are in daily session discussing the question of removing the seminary from Greenville, S. C. There are several propositions before them. Kentucky offers $300,000 on condition that it is removed to $300,000 on condition that it is removed to that State, and Louisville and Russeliville are compeling for it; Tennessee offers $100,000 from the State at large and all that can be raised at any location in the State to which the seminary may be removed under this proposition; Memphis offers $200,000; Nashville $60,000 and the building of the State University; Chattanooga $150,000, which has been actually put into good hands. Atlanta is also competing, but her proposition is not yet in form.
